Suspect: Albert Ross - Location: The Veranda - Weapon: Beverage Cart

Ladies and gentlemen, we have finally unraveled the mystery surrounding the murder of the surveyor at the golf course. The culprit, the location, and the weapon have been discovered. Allow me to present to you the solution to this perplexing case:

Albert Ross, the charismatic salesman known for his "two under par" scores and flashy sports car, committed the heinous crime. But why? It all began with the letter that Calvin Callaway, the Pro, received about the potential sale of the golf course to a medical company. Albert Ross had a vested interest in preventing this sale, as his livelihood depended on the deals he made on the course.

Albert had been trying to convince Mollianne Mulligan, the Beverage Cart Girl, to invest her tip money into a new business opportunity, but she had repeatedly turned him down. Frustrated and desperate to secure his financial future, Albert hatched a sinister plan.

On the fateful day, Albert Ross saw an opportunity. He noticed that Mollianne's beverage cart was parked on the veranda with the parking brake engaged. He surreptitiously unlocked the brake, knowing that the slope would cause the cart to roll down the hill, potentially causing harm to anyone at the bottom. His plan was to frame Mollianne for the murder, making it look like a tragic accident.

As the surveyor was working at the bottom of the hill, measuring the course, Albert Ross put his plan into action. He pushed the unlocked beverage cart down the hill, which tragically struck and killed the surveyor. The next day, the surveyor's body was discovered, and the investigation began.

But today, we unveil the truth. Through a meticulous investigation and the help of astute golfers like yourselves, we have unraveled the web of deception. Albert Ross is the culprit who took a life to protect his financial interests.

Ladies and gentlemen, justice will be served, and Albert Ross will be held accountable for his actions. The golf course can now move forward, free from the shadow of this terrible crime.

If your verdict listed: Albert Ross as the Culprit, the Veranda as the Location, and the Beverage Cart as the Weapon, congratulations on solving our Buried in the Rough Golf Mystery!
